To PT. KORINTIGA HUTANI

Productivity improvement of eucalyptus plantation woodchips

You have established a method of peeling logs using heavy machinery on site and have increased the productivity of the chip production flow by adding a log input line (the debarker bypass) after the peeling process, which had been the bottleneck, thereby making a significant contribution to increasing profits by boosting chip production.

This is the result of your efforts to improve the process with a new way of thinking, without being bound by the status quo, and is a model for others to follow.
I extend my heartfelt commendation for your outstanding achievements and present you with this well-deserved award.
